Reference to Docket 2015-02 –The Antrim Wind Energy LLC project

Attention Pamela Monroe:

We are recent members of the White Birch Point Association; we recently purchased our summer cottage from the heirs of the Fleming family. Harold Manchester Fleming was a prominent writer and economist, throughout his career in 1930's he was recognized for writing about complex banking issues of the time. A local Antrim newspaper article from the 1950's suggested that he might have written some of the American Anti -Trust laws in one of the White Birch Point cabins. Historically, the WBP members have always included various interesting people with diverse backgrounds.

The association was incorporated in 1912'; many of its members have fond memories at the beach dating back to the 1930's. The common land owned by 23 members, includes an area known as the "Grove". It has been a common meeting place for generations, families continue to use the private beach and its amenities, and the view of Gregg Lake and the surrounding rolling hills from the WBP private beach, is as timeless as the association itself. In past years, a proposal by one of its members to convert the current walking path used to access the beach, into a driveway access and parking lot, was declined in an effort to preserve the historic "Grove". The attraction for us in buying our summer cottage at WBP was due to this type of philosophy for preservation by its members, to preserve the area and its prestigious views of the lake and the surrounding ridgelines.

In closing, as a member of the White Birch Point Association, I agree with the findings by Terraink Incorporated, that the proposed wind farm project has an unreasonable adverse effect on the aesthetics of the area and White Birch Point Association and its members. I am opposed to the project. Thank you for your kind consideration concerning this important issue.

Kind regards,
