

Dear Pamela,

I grew up here in NH and was taught the value of our natural treasures... not just to the eye or the tourism industry, but to the ecosystem that supports us, and to our spirits. The modern world is destroying things that have created themselves over thousands and thousands of years: things which we cannot recreate with the push of a button or on-demand, in the way that our society has come to expect everything. I am sure that by now, supporters of Northern Pass have been inundated by scientific facts and figures which show them why this is a terrible idea.

Please, do not create this Pass. Support local economies instead of buying from national chains, and that will create more jobs. Find alternative solutions through natural power. Think of the people and of the planet we live on before you think of your pocketbooks. This world needs us as much as we need it.

Sincerely,
Angela D'Onofrio
