

Application of Groton Wind, LLC

Docket No. 2010-01

Record Request: Bat studies in which Iberdrola has participated and the names of bat conservation organizations involved in those studies.

Response:

In addition to being a founding member of the Bat and Wind Energy Cooperative (BWEC) staffed by the Bat Conservation International (BCI), Iberdrola Renewables has participated in 9 of the 10 BWEC research studies. This has included cutting edge adaptive management research as well as studies attempting to provide pre-construction and post-construction correlation. Among the Iberdrola Renewables wind farms that have participated in these studies are the Casselman project in Pennsylvania, Hoosac project in Massachusetts, and the Briery project in West Virginia.
