PROCEEDINGS

CMSR. HONIGBERG: As many of you know, the Legislature acted earlier this year to change the SEC in a number of ways. SB 245 restructured the Committee somewhat, changed some responsibilities. The new SEC does not yet exist. It will exist when a second public member is confirmed. That may take place on December 3rd, but we don't know if that will happen.

one of the requirements of SB 245 was that the SEC prepare a long-term funding plan to present to the Legislature, and that plan be submitted by December 1st. The expectation in SB 245 would be that the new SEC would already exist, and it would be the new SEC making the proposal. That new SEC does not exist. So it also provided that anything that the new SEC was supposed to do, if it doesn't exist, the old SEC was supposed to do. So, here we are.

What you have in front of you is the product of a number of meetings this fall of the working group that was put together earlier in the year in connection with SB 245. I think it was -- it arose organically. Some legislators told a group of stakeholders, "You figure out what should happen with the new law." That group continued to meet and discuss what could be done throughout the legislative session last year and then started meeting again in September to try and come up with a funding plan that could be the basis for a proposal to the Legislature.

You see on the first page the people who attended most of the meetings. Three of us are here. Beth Muzzey, Craig Wright and myself attended I think all of the meetings, or maybe one of us missed one. But I think we were all in the meetings this fall. Others on this list also attended all or most of the meetings and discussed various options for how to go about funding and SEC going forward with certain expectations and assumptions. At no time was there ever a quorum of either the old SEC or the new SEC at any of these meetings. We had representatives of the environmental community, developers, business interests generally, and a number of state agencies and state officials.

The concept I'll walk through for

The first category being Baseline you. Operations of the SEC, you can see what's included: The cost of hiring an administrator either as a state employee or consultant, either of which is allowable under the statute; rent; equipment; paying some support staff allocated from SEC personnel. There may be a need to hire consultants and/or legal consultants for rulemaking. And then, also make sure there was money to make the per diem payments to public members who have to sit on matters going forward -- for example, budget and rulemaking -where there's no contribution from applicants. We estimated that that will be about $250,000 annually. The budget prepared and proposed and approved by the Fiscal Committee for fiscal year 2015 was a total of about $373,000. But that included a double counting of the cost of an administrator because we didn't know whether that was going to be done as a consultant or employee. And under the State's budgeting system, that has to be two different lines and can't be transferred, so it had to be budgeted twice. So this number is consistent with that number. It's a little lower, but there's reasons for that having to do with what's expected to take place. But in any event, that's the annual expected outlay.

And the group consensus -actually, it may have been unanimous -- was that the proposed source for those expenses should be the General Fund. It may or may not ever take place, but that is -- that was the "ask" that everybody felt should be made.

Variable Expenses, as their name implies, will vary, and it depends on how much business there is for the SEC to do with applicants, with other types of proceedings. And the assumptions underlying the amount are that the per diems, the public members, would have to be paid, and there would be reimbursement to state agencies for some of the time agency personnel work on SEC matters, which is described in more detail below.

The proposal is for application fees, filing fees to cover the variable expenses.

And the fees differ. There's a schedule attached to the last page of this proposal, and it's a sliding scale for applications, depending on what it is: Is it transmission? Is it generation? What exactly is being proposed? How big it is, and if it's generation, what the fuel is. And you can see that the numbers differed depending on what you're talking about.

The theory behind it is that the money coming in needs to cover the number of days that the SEC is working. And we used historical information from earlier proceedings and tried to make some good-faith guesses, guesstimates, educated estimates, but estimates nonetheless about what the future would likely bring. There was a wind project a few years example: ago that was resolved in a total of, I think the number was 18 days of meeting time plus preparation time for the SEC. There was a more recent one that took 33 days, and which was likely to be correct. I think the judgment of the group was that the more recent number was probably a more accurate number. There was a recognition that some historical events are probably not predictors of what's going to happen in the future. I think when you read about what happens with various proposals for transmission, things that would have been noncontroversial 20 years ago could be very controversial today. But the group tried to make estimates as to how long things would take.

There's also in the fee schedule, fees set for a variety of other types of filings: Petitions for jurisdiction, transfers of ownership, things like that. The new law allows for most proceedings to go with a small subcommittee if all the participants agree.

Those don't -- shouldn't take a lot of time. It shouldn't take a lot of effort by -- number of days, anyway, by members of the SEC. So the filing fees for most of those things are quite low. If larger committees, larger subcommittees are required, those numbers go up somewhat.

There's no change in this proposal to things that the new statute doesn't touch, like other costs that are incurred in the process, like the stenographer, like experts retained by public counsel. Those have been paid by the applicant separately and will continue to be paid by the applicant where appropriate.

Reimbursement of Agency Member It is a huge commitment, as all of you know better than I, actually, where some of these proceedings can take many days, many days of preparation. For a number of agencies with funding constraints who have federal funds, grant funds, where individuals are funded by those sources of funds, they can't be used legally to It limits the flexibility of do anything else. the agency. For small agencies, it limits their ability to do anything else if they are assigned to a longstanding obligation here. For agencies like the PUC, which are not generally funded, but are funded by assessments on utilities and other entities, some people would say there's an injustice in asking ratepayers to pay the review costs of a merchant project. So there are lots of policies and judgments going on here, but the reimbursement of agency time is part of this proposal.

There's a recognition that not everything should be included in that. And to accommodate the legitimate concerns of many and the recognition that a lot of these proceedings don't take that long, this proposal contemplates that three days of either hearing or -- a combination of hearing and preparation time goes unreimbursed to the agencies. There's a request that the chair and the administrator develop a timekeeping formula or process. But there's a proposal within here to count the half-days or full days so the paperwork doesn't become onerous.

Obviously, this is going to have to be subject to review regularly. The fund may build up faster than we expect, in which case there should be a review of the filing fees to reduce them, or the fund may get depleted faster than we anticipated. And if there is a contingency, the group talked about a lot of possibilities, including ratepayer assessments, the elimination of agency reimbursements, having the applicants fund some or all of the additional time that's needed.

What the group recommendation came up with was, though, to go back to the Renewable Energy Fund.

As many of you know, SB 245 funded the start-up operations of the SEC with what it called a "one-time grant" -- although it was probably not the best use of the phrase -- by up to $500,000 to fund the first year of the SEC's operations in fiscal year 2015. As I noted a minute ago, the entire request submitted to Fiscal was 373. And we know no more than about 300 can be spent, even if every penny was going to be spent that could be spent. So there's money in the REF that the Legislature acknowledged was an appropriate place to fund SEC operations, at least as an initial matter. so the proposal here is to allow the full $500,000 to be available to the SEC in the event that we hit a shortfall.

And then you can see some of the specific recommendations are listed on Page 3 to implement what I've talked about, what's written above. And if you want to just take a quick look at the filing fee, I think Meredith has been doing the calculations here to my right to determine what every possible project might have to pay for an application fee.

I want to say a couple of things about the theory behind the application fees before going further. One of the big considerations, and it's noted in the narrative, is the need for certainty by the applicants. There were some people that said they should just pay as they go. But there was a strong desire on the part of the business community, the developers, and a recognition that it would be potentially a deterrent if it weren't set up this way, for them to know what this process would cost, as best as they can up front. That doesn't mean everybody pays the same. It just means that they know what they're going to pay once they know what their project looks like. And so that was a big part of driving the upfront filing fee concept.

I think that's a summary. Craig and Beth may have more to add. What we will need, though, is approval by the SEC of this or some modification to it -- I hope not much -- that can be dressed up and put into something that can be sent to the Legislature, as required, a week from today.

Beth? Craig?

DIR. WRIGHT: I think you did a really good summary, Commissioner.

DIR. MUZZEY: Me also.

CMSR. HONIGBERG: Does anybody have any questions or -- yeah.

DIR. BRYCE: DRED will be on this in one form or another. So, does the reimbursement to state agencies include prep and review time?

CMSR. HONIGBERG: Yes, there's an expectation that it's roughly one day for one day, that if you have a day of hearing, you'll have a day of prep time. And it may not always be exactly one to one, but in the -- over the long haul, you would expect it to be about one to one.

DIR. BRYCE: Regarding the budgets for -- to operate the agency, I don't have a suggested change for this. But I have, you know, thoughts about presenting it, in terms of what -- how it's funded now, how the resources come to it now versus how it's going to happen under the budget, because I don't know -- you know, I haven't been following this very closely. But there's probably some things, like hiring an administrator. Somebody's doing that function now; correct? That function is getting taken care of in some way or not?

CHAIRMAN BURACK: To the extent that the Department of Environmental Services, and with some support from PUC historically, we've been able to, for lack of a better term, "rob Peter to pay Paul," we have had people spending whatever time was absolutely essential to be able to get the work done. But it was taking away from other work that the departments were otherwise required to do.

DIR. BRYCE: Right. And I think that kind of -- because the question -- unless it's stated clearly, it's been subsidized primarily by DES and PUC taking away from other -- you know, the thing is, they're just adding -- you know, as a legislator, I might just think, "Oh, they're just adding a staff person for no reason, and this wasn't done before."

CMSR. HONIGBERG: They've already done that. The good news is that SB 245 took care of that. That decision was already made.

They've added that position. That position exists in law.

DIR. BRYCE: Yeah, well, getting the funding is -- I'm just worried about getting -- I have a lot of stuff that's in law that we don't get funding for historically. So I'm just -- so that's my concern, is really having a very spelled-out justification for the budget.

And then the second -- I just have three comments. And then the second is, I assume this is comparable with other -- do we know what other states do? And I apologize if I ask obvious questions that you've done the work on. Do we know what other states charge for these sorts of things?

DIR. BRYCE: Or they don't charge anything? They're just funded with general funds?

There is --

CMSR. HONIGBERG:

CMSR. HONIGBERG: No. Almost all of them have filing fees of some sort, and they are -- this was based, I think, on New York?

DIR. MUZZEY: Yeah.

1	CMSR. HONIGBERG: Yeah.
2	DIR. BRYCE: Yeah, okay. All
3	right.
4	CMSR. HONIGBERG: I mean, it ended
5	up being very different ultimately from what New
6	York does. But the original sort of concept was
7	the New York model for this.
8	DIR. BRYCE: And I'm not do we
9	know of any state agency that's been successful
10	in getting the authority to not go to Fiscal with
11	up to a 20-percent change in fees? Is there any
12	history around that within New Hampshire state
13	government?
14	CMSR. HONIGBERG: Off the record.
15	(Off the record.)
16	DIR. BRYCE: I have a concern.
17	That's the only one I really have a concern about
18	and, at a minimum, have a caveat: Provided that
19	there's a shortfall, an impending or existing
20	shortfall in an approved budget, so it's not just
21	like raising the fees to create a kitty. That's
22	my only suggestion.
23	CMSR. HONIGBERG: I think that's a
24	good suggestion.

1	DIR. BRYCE: Thank you.
2	CMSR. HONIGBERG: Other questions,
3	comments? Yes.
4	DIR. SIMPKINS: I had a question.
5	Under the Reimbursement of Agency Member Time, so
6	that's the first three days in any particular
7	proceeding. So if you had, say, four different
8	things during a fiscal year, you could have up to
9	12 days non- reimbursed. Is that the correct way
10	to read that?
11	CMSR. HONIGBERG: Yeah.
12	DIR. SIMPKINS: Do we know
13	looking in the past, it seems like some years
14	there's been a lot of applications. Like what
15	year did we have, like, the most applications?
16	Just trying to get an idea on that. Seems like
17	it must have been fairly recently.
18	DIR. BRYCE: I can update you
19	later at the bar.
20	CHAIRMAN BURACK: What we know
21	and I'm sorry. I don't have all the graphs with
22	us. But we can certainly share graphs that we
23	prepared for presentations to committees. But
24	what we've seen is a substantial uptake in recent

24

Prior to, if I recall correctly, the mid-2000s, we might have seen anywhere from zero to two applications per year. And after that time, it took off fairly sharply, to the point now that we have in some years seen as many as six, eight, maybe even ten applications in a And I think we're reasonably anticipating, within the next 12 months or so, at least a half-dozen to maybe as many as a dozen different matters that could come before the Committee. And I think it's also fair to say that we're seeing them of all kinds of different lengths. And this notion of for a relatively short proceeding -- and I don't know whether, when you total up the amount of time the committee has spent on this particular matter, whether it's been three days or more than three days. particular matter that we just heard today relating to the Granite Reliable Wind Park would probably come in at or under three days. So, it probably would not be something for which an agency might expect to be reimbursed for its But looking back in time to other projects that we've heard recently, such as the biomass

1	facility in Berlin, my recollection is that that
2	was roughly a 10-day to two-week project.
3	Various wind projects have averaged anywhere from
4	three to five weeks or more of time. And so it
5	was really for those larger projects that parties
6	were agreeable to paying for the actual agency
7	time.
8	DIR. SIMPKINS: Okay. Thank you.
9	CHAIRMAN BURACK: Is that helpful?
10	I do have a question for those who
11	were directly involved in these discussions, and
12	that is: Evidently the notion is that, if a
13	proceeding's actual costs exceed what is
14	collected in application fees, I gather the hope
15	is there are sufficient funds in a reserve
16	account initially funded by the Renewable Energy
17	Fund to be able to make up that difference; is
18	that correct?
19	CMSR. HONIGBERG: I would say
20	close.
21	CHAIRMAN BURACK: How would you
22	modify that?
23	CMSR. HONIGBERG: I think that the
24	hope is that the fund will have money in it from application fees that will cover both those that take more and those that take less. For those that run over, the hope is that there were more that ran under so that the funds will build. In the event there is a shortfall, yes, then you would look to go to the REF.

The reason I disagree -- I want to change it is that it's not the REF money up front that should be the backstop, because there will be a filing fee if there's some big proceeding that starts. And so that fee we hope would be in the fund and be available to make the necessary payments to cover the operations, to cover the variable costs. It's only when that money gets depleted that you need to think about where's your next dollar coming from. Is that a fair way of putting it?

DIR. WRIGHT: Yeah, I think I would add, I mean, we were pretty conservative in making our estimates of how long it would take to do any of these procedures, so all these formulas are kind of based on a conservative estimate of the number of days to process that. So I think --

1	CHAIRMAN BURACK: When you say
2	"conservative," you mean you erred on the longer
3	side or the shorter side?
4	DIR. WRIGHT: Yes, we erred on the
5	longer side. And then, on top of that, I think
6	if you go back to the three days, I think the
7	idea is that three days of us not charging on any
8	type of proceeding would help to build the fund
9	up over time, to give us that little bit of
10	cushion.
11	CHAIRMAN BURACK: Because there
12	would still be an application fee charged for the 13
14	DIR. WRIGHT: Exactly. But we
15	wouldn't be accounting for
16	CHAIRMAN BURACK: Right. But it
17	was also the recognition
18	(Court Reporter interrupts.)
19	DIR. WRIGHT: So we wouldn't be
20	accounting for those first three days in the
21	charges to that particular application.
22	CHAIRMAN BURACK: But as I recall,
23	that three days was also in recognition of the 24	fact that, under current law, as it's been for many years, the departments have not received any reimbursement at all for their time, and this was a way of saying the departments will still continue to make a financial commitment to the process.

DIR. WRIGHT: Yes.

CMSR. HONIGBERG: I think that's in the narrative. There's a recognition of that sharing, historical aspect.

CHAIRMAN BURACK: Okay. If I may, and I know, Director Bryce, you want to come back in here, this discussion of the Renewable Energy Fund, though, has me concerned, because there is -- if I'm understanding things correctly, the notion here is that, if the fund runs out -maybe this is what my question is: If the fund actually runs out, and there isn't enough money in the fund or the account to pay agency time and cover other costs of a particular proceeding, is the expectation that the Committee would immediately raise fees for pending or future matters, or is it that the Committee would be able to go to the Renewable Energy Fund and draw monies beyond the initial $500,000 grant?

1	CMSR. HONIGBERG: Neither. The
2	expectation is that you would have gone up you
3	would take what's left of the 500. And if you
4	have gone long enough that you can see that
5	coming, you would have proposed an increase in
6	the fees. But if you see a shortfall coming,
7	you're not going to be able to increase fees
8	immediately to get that done. That's what the
9	the REF is there as a backstop. Is that clear?
10	DIR. HATFIELD: Can I ask a
11	follow-up to that? Says, "The group recommends,
12	however, that the Legislature authorize use of
13	the full $500,000 Renewable Energy Fund grant
14	that was included in Senate Bill 245." I think
15	the confusing part is the next clause is, "in the
16	event the SEC fund is or may be depleted." So,
17	is that a future grant, or are you saying to the
18	Legislature, Please give us the full 500 in FY15
19	and allow us to continue to hold those funds in
20	case we need them?
21	CMSR. HONIGBERG: What you just
22	said, the latter part.
23	DIR. MUZZEY: There probably
24	DIR. WRIGHT: It's a one-time

$500,000.

DIR. MUZZEY: There probably is a more clear way to state what the group came up with. But I can relay that what to do in the event that our estimates are horribly off and we don't have time to go get the law changed or go before Fiscal, we spent an enormous amount of time looking for a backstop. It was very hard to agree on that, and so this is what the group was able to come up with that was agreeable. It probably just needs to be said in a more clear way.

CHAIRMAN BURACK: I think the technical term you're talking about is having that $500,000 appropriation be "continuously appropriated"? I think that may be the correct term, "continuously."

DIR. BRYCE: "Non-lapsing."

CHAIRMAN BURACK: "Non-lapsing."

DIR. MUZZEY: Well, you have to also look back at the SB 245 language, because it was appropriated in a way that had some different type of wording. And so it was a struggle to work with that wording and come up with the right wording in this proposal.

CMSR. HONIGBERG: SB 245 did create the dedicated fund. There are limitations on that dedicated fund. So the Legislature -we're asking to modify it slightly to make it continue. But I think what we want them to do is to put -- is to make that entire REF grant available in that dedicated fund. Some of it will be spent in fiscal year 2015, but we don't know how much. As far as I know, none has been In fact, I know none has been spent to date. spent.

CHAIRMAN BURACK: Phil, you had a comment?

DIR. BRYCE: So, how many proceedings did you say that we may be seeing, just a few minutes ago? We saw one or two in the mid-2000s. So we may see four or five --

CHAIRMAN BURACK: Yeah, I mean, the numbers have crept up, I think we recently anticipated. But it can change from day to day.

Attorney Iacopino, you may have further information you can share. I think we can reasonably anticipate the filing of at least a half-dozen matters within the next 12 months.

Is that a fairly accurate description of what your current understandings are?

MR. IACOPINO: Probably, if you've been reading the papers, you know that -- well, Northern Pass, first of all, says they're going to file in March. I don't know if that's really --

MR. IACOPINO: This coming March.
There was just a newspaper article where the Kinder Morgan pipeline has now become -- the alternative route through New Hampshire has become the preferred route.

CMSR. HONIGBERG:

What year?

There was also an article about the Scobie-Tewksbury transmission line in The Union Leader just about a week and a half ago. They are -- these companies are all right now in the process of communicating with the various towns where their pipeline or transmission line is to go through. So I think we can reasonably expect by the end of the year we'll probably see some movement from them. Not this year. End of 2015.

There is -- and it is public -there is a plan for a new Antrim Wind application that has been debated robustly in Antrim and is the subject of much press and public meetings out there. That's the one, by the way, that took I think a total of 33 days, just so you know, last time.

So I think 2015 will be a fairly prolific year for the Site Evaluation Committee.

DIR. BRYCE: So, three days, half a dozen -- I want to make sure I understand this. That's potentially 18 days, which is over three work weeks, closing in on four, that the agency has to put up in terms of time for free. So, basically, probably 10 percent of the working time of a staff person for a year, if you take in holidays and vacations and everything, that you would have to put up -- and maybe I don't understand how people are allocated. But do I have that one right?

CHAIRMAN BURACK: I think you do.

And, again, understand that under the new statute there's going to be flexibility for the chair of the PUC to be able to establish smaller subcommittees than we currently have and also for the commissioners in the departments to be able to designate senior administrative staff to sit on behalf of the department. So, DRED, DES, DOT, DHR would each only have one person sitting on any one particular proceeding. No more than one person.

DIR. BRYCE: No more than one person. But I don't see that that changes the math at all. It might change the workload, but it doesn't change -- 'cause we look at DRED as one big, happy family and --

CHAIRMAN BURACK: That's correct. From that perspective, it does not change the math.

I want to be respectful of the time we have here because I think we're going to need a motion here to approve this, or approve this with some modification.

The only modification that I would ask that we consider to what's been proposed here is that, in the event that the Legislature is not comfortable with, or we don't otherwise have a financial backstop in the event that costs of proceedings exceed what's actually set aside in the account, that at that point we do have the ability to charge the applicant the actual additional costs associated with the proceedings. Now, that may not be politically acceptable to some. I understand that. But I would just put that out there as to whether that's something that others would feel comfortable including as a further recommendation that we as a committee might make.

DIR. BRYCE: Are you going to drop the 20 percent then? Do you need it?

CMSR. HONIGBERG: That's going to be a hypothetical, because those of us who sat with that work group, we would tell you that is a non-starter.

DIR. WRIGHT: Yes.

CMSR. HONIGBERG: I will --

DIR. MUZZEY: Could I just ask,

Commissioner, to clarify? So you're talking about, if the fund runs out of money, we're still in the middle of a proceeding, the state agencies will be able to directly charge the current applicant for their per diem costs?

CHAIRMAN BURACK: That would be the thought, yes. Now, maybe politically it's inexpedient. The challenge, of course, is that agencies are being asked -- we're being asked to cap our costs. But we all understand that the applicants themselves -- meaning no disrespect in this -- their experts, their agents, their consultants, their attorneys, I sincerely doubt are capping their costs or their fees.

So, anyway, I just put that out there as a thought. It may be that there isn't a consensus on doing that at this point, but I just think it's an important thing to be thinking about, depending on how the conversations go with the Legislature.

DIR. WRIGHT: I think it was clear that a lot -- just to let you know, Commissioner, that a lot of developers, I think, had a lot of concern with that. I'm sure Commissioner Honigberg could tell you that, and Direct Muzzey as well.

DIR. MUZZEY: Yes.

CMSR. HONIGBERG: Absolutely.

DIR. WRIGHT: That was their biggest -- certainty was really their biggest concern.

CMSR. HONIGBERG: The one thing I would remind everybody is that this is just the SEC's required recommendation or proposal to the Legislature. It's going to go into the legislative process, and lots of people will have lots of opinions about how different it should be come May when they end up voting on it.

DIR. HATFIELD: Just a couple questions. I believe that SB 245 retained the authority for the SEC to require applicants to pay for certain studies required by the public counsel and the SEC. So there still is that.

CMSR. HONIGBERG: There is a paragraph in here that mentions that.

DIR. HATFIELD: Okay. In terms of -- on Page 3, you have specific legislative recommendations, and No. 2 is to establish the recommended application of filing fee schedule. And I wonder if there was discussion about whether that would be more appropriate to do through the SEC rulemaking that is about to start rather than having that fixed in legislation.

DIR. WRIGHT: I said yes, it should be in the rule, but I didn't think we felt like we would get that authority under the legislation. But...

DIR. HATFIELD: And so is there a feeling -- or is SB 245 clear that SEC doesn't have that authority in the rulemaking that's about to start?

CHAIRMAN BURACK: I don't believe that -- and I could be mistaken about this, but I do not believe that the Legislature in SB 245 gave the SEC the authority by rule to adopt fees; otherwise, we wouldn't be going through the process we are now.

I will withdraw my other suggestion, but let me make one other, understanding that this may be problematic as well, and maybe this is accounted for by the authority to modify the fee schedule, or maybe this is an alternative to this. If the Legislature is going to adopt a fee schedule by statute, we must have the equivalent in some fashion of an inflation or cost-of-living adjustment on an annual basis to that fee, because costs are rising every year, and we must be able to address and recover those costs. So that may or may not have been discussed by the committee, but I would urge the SEC as a body to include that as a modification, or certainly as an alternative to the authority for us to be able to raise fees by 20 percent by rule.

DIR. MUZZEY: That was discussed very early on, and I think it's a point that we lost along the way. But there had been early discussion of, you know, raising it by 3 percent every year to account for that. And I'm not sure -- CMSR. HONIGBERG: And I don't know that I would object to it, although I'm not sure that -- we can't really speak for the working group on that. That would have to come from this group. We have to make it clear that it came not from the working group but from the SEC.

DIR. WRIGHT: You could use something like the Consumer Price Index defined by the department of something.

CMSR. HONIGBERG: Yeah. I mean, but in this proposal you would just say "with an appropriate inflation adjuster" because we're not writing legislation.

DIR. BRYCE: So you're replacing the 20 percent or not?

CMSR. HONIGBERG: No.

CHAIRMAN BURACK: No. I would provide it as an alternative. The 20 percent is with the understanding that DES -- or that the -- I'm sorry -- the SEC could, without legislative action, raise its fees up to 20 percent. And we're saying, if you don't give us that authority and you insist -- the Legislature insists on setting the fees by statute, set the fee for the first year by statute, but include an automatic cost-of-living adjustment so that that fee will automatically adjust itself in future years -- DIR. BRYCE: So, are you --

CHAIRMAN BURACK: -- by operation of statute.

DIR. BRYCE: Right. So, are you setting your fees -- there's three ways to set fees: Through the legislative through a bill, through regular legislative action; through the Fiscal Committee and --

DIR. MUZZEY: Rulemaking.

DIR. BRYCE: -- and then rulemaking, right. Which one is this? Do you have to go back -- is the Legislature setting the fees the first time, and then subsequent fees you're going to Fiscal? Is that what's going on? Or do you have to go back to the Legislature every time you want to change fees, or are you going to rulemaking? I mean, when you say "Legislature," that includes all three to me. Which one is it?

DIR. MUZZEY: I believe how it's meant to be written here is that the Legislature initially sets the fee. And then there was recognition that we could have estimated these fees all wrong, and so there needed to be some sort of reassessment, probably on a yearly basis, that maybe they should go up or maybe they should go down to meet actual costs. And that would be done through -- if it's no greater than 20 percent, the actual SEC can do it. But if it's greater than 20 percent, Fiscal does it.

DIR. BRYCE: Right. Well, I think

DIR. BRYCE: Right. Well, I think you need an exception from 541-A, because that requires you to do fees through rulemaking. So, keep that -- your rules attorneys can tell you that. Because we need that for the parks fund. For our fees for state parks, we need, first, an exemption from 541, and then a direction to go to Fiscal. So I don't know if that's still necessary or not, but that may be something you need to consider.

But yes, that's the way -- to just go to Fiscal is definitely the way to do it. But I think that needs to be more clear. That didn't -- that concept did not come across. I think you need to be more specific than saying "Legislature."

CHAIRMAN BURACK: Okay. With these --

DIR. HATFIELD: On the -- sorry.

CHAIRMAN BURACK: Go ahead.

DIR. HATFIELD: On Schedule A, which is the proposed fees, at the bottom there's a section for administrative proceedings. And I wondered, is the intent that these would apply, regardless of who files? And the reason I ask is, if a municipality was filing, or some party other than the applicant was filing an enforcement action or something, would that apply to anybody, regardless of who was filing?

CMSR. HONIGBERG: That is discussed in the narrative, but I didn't talk about it. If someone else is filing, there's no filing fee up front. If the result of the proceeding is, for example, that someone is now within the SEC process, then that person, that project, would be responsible for paying the petition for jurisdiction fee and whatever application fee is appropriate for the proceeding. There may be some proceedings that will end up fee-less, but that's got to -- that's within the overhead of the agency in this context.

CHAIRMAN BURACK: Okay. Thank you. So I think where we are is we're looking for a motion to... how do you want to put this?

CMSR. HONIGBERG: I will move for the adoption of this recommendation by the SEC, with a handful of modifications: One is to clarify the REF use; another is to clarify the level of legislative involvement needed for the change in fees; third is to include a proposal to have a cost-of-living inflation adjuster in the fees that are adopted. Those are the three that I can remember.

DIR. BRYCE: I understood that to be if the 20 percent didn't fly.

CMSR. HONIGBERG: No, I think it's got to be separate. There's got to be two separate things there. You need them both.

DIR. BRYCE: Oh, okay.

CHAIRMAN BURACK: That's fine.

CMSR. HONIGBERG: You need them both.

DIR. BRYCE: All right.

CHAIRMAN BURACK: Okay. I think the other things that were discussed were just adding some further justification up front for why the fees are needed, that there needs to be more precatory language here in the actual document that the committee submits laying out why -- how this has been funded in the past and why, you know, as SB 245 found, why it's necessary to have staff to support this. And let's see. I don't know whether there's a necessity. I think Phil was suggesting that there should be further language explaining that the 20-percent increase should be only in the event of an actual or impending shortfall.

DIR. BRYCE: Correct.

CHAIRMAN BURACK: I guess one other thought I'll share. Frankly, looking at these fees, these fees seem to me lower than what I had previously anticipated and what I thought were the numbers being considered. And I think there's going to be a risk that the Legislature may look at these fees and say, Well, that's what they thought was the right amount. But they must have padded the numbers, and so we're going to cut those by 50 percent. And I would just encourage us to really be able to provide the data that demonstrates how we arrived at these fees and why these fees really are close to the minimum, and a very reasonable number, and that we have not made these of necessity on the high side, anticipating that there would be an effort by the Legislature to reduce them.

CMSR. HONIGBERG: I think we're in a position to do that.

1	DIR. WRIGHT: We have
2	spreadsheets, and we can show those.
3	CMSR. HONIGBERG: We have
4	spreadsheets and historical information about
5	time lines. I mean, it would have been possible
6	for us to try to pad, with the expectation that
7	someone would cut. But we chose not to do that.
8	We would have had a lot of fighting, I think,
9	within the group. You know, remember who we had
10	here. We had business representatives,
11	developers, the environmental community and
12	governmental representatives. I don't think that
13	group would have agreed to "pad," as it were, a
14	request, and we did not do that. And I think
15	Craig has the spreadsheets, and we have some of
16	the other data to back that up.
17	CHAIRMAN BURACK: Very good.
18	CMSR. HONIGBERG: So my motion, as
19	modified by you with the addition of the
20	information up front and the clarifying statement
21	that an increase is to deal with an actual or
22	impending shortfall, we can we will modify
23	that and turn it into a proposal.

CHAIRMAN BURACK: Very good. So

24

1	we have a motion by Commissioner Honigberg. Is
2	there a second?
3	DIR. WRIGHT: I would second.
4	CHAIRMAN BURACK: Second by
5	Director Wright.
6	Any further discussion of the
7	motion?
8	MS. BAILEY: Can I just ask a
9	point of order?
10	CHAIRMAN BURACK: Yes.
11	MS. BAILEY: Should I be voting on
12	this? Because I'm a designated member in this
13	SEC for today
14	CMSR. HONIGBERG: Probably no.
15	CHAIRMAN BURACK: I think that's a
16	fair question. And Engineer Bailey, probably not
17	appropriate for you to vote.
18	MS. BAILEY: That's what I
19	figured.
20	CMSR. HONIGBERG: If we need to
21	you break the tie
22	CHAIRMAN BURACK: But I think
23	everybody else can vote. Should we do a roll
24	call? What would be

	42
1	CMSR. HONIGBERG: Sure.
2	CHAIRMAN BURACK: Why don't we
3	just do a roll call vote here so that it will be
4	very clear who was here.
5	Attorney Iacopino, would you call
6	roll?
7	MR. IACOPINO: Director Forbes.
8	DIR. FORBES: Aye.
9	MR. IACOPINO: Director Bryce.
10	DIR. BRYCE: Aye.
11	MR. IACOPINO: Director Wright.
12	DIR. WRIGHT: Yes.
13	MR. IACOPINO: Director Oldenburg.
14	MR. OLDENBURG: Aye.
15	MR. IACOPINO: Director Hatfield.
16	DIR. HATFIELD: I'm going to
17	abstain.
18	MR. IACOPINO: Commissioner
19	Honigberg.
20	CMSR. HONIGBERG: Aye.
21	MR. IACOPINO: Director Muzzey.
22	DIR. MUZZEY: Yes.
23	MR. IACOPINO: Commissioner Scott.
24	CMSR. SCOTT: Aye.

1	I have a quick comment to make for
2	a placeholder. We just in this last
3	proceeding, we just tasked a state organization
4	to effectively act as our agent, Fish & Game,
5	without any revenue associated. I'd like to
6	in future rulemaking discussions, you know, is
7	there a way to accommodate that? But "yes" is my
8	answer to this.
9	MR. IACOPINO: Director Simpkins.
10	DIR. SIMPKINS: Aye.
11	MR. IACOPINO: Mr. Chair.
12	CHAIRMAN BURACK: Yes.
13	MR. IACOPINO: The "ayes" have it.
14	CHAIRMAN BURACK: Very good.
15	Thank you. Thank you all very much. We want to
16	say a special thanks to Marty and Craig and Beth
17	for their work with the subcommittee work group
18	that put together this long-term funding proposal
19	and
20	CMSR. HONIGBERG: I move we
21	adjourn.
22	CHAIRMAN BURACK: We stand
23	adjourned. Thank you.
