

SEC COMMENTS COLLECTION

SECDocket	2015-04 Eversource Seacoast
CommenterName	Cindy Jones
CommenterCity	Lee
DateReceived	11-23-2016

CommenterWords

Dear Pamela, Eversource and Normandeau Assoc.,

Many are concerned about the mounting negative evidence against Eversources' plan to jet plow (8ft deep) 3 transmission cables through the toxic metals and pollutants in the sediment of Great & Little Bay which will cause catastrophic damage to an already compromised eco-system. (See links below) Eversource has not provided to date any legitimate, concrete evidence that this project is safe for humans, wildlife or the greater good of our communities. At an ORHS Eversource hearing Normandeau Associates was asked "do you have scientific data or research explaining the impact of jet plowing through an estuary?" the comment from Normandeau panel was no.

I believe Eversources' and Normandeau Associates moral obligation to the people of this great state have been clouded by the almighty dollar and desire to implement the cheapest, (for them), quickest and easiest way to push their project through!

What legacy do you/they want to leave to their/our children, grandchildren and the next generation? Will they casually comment at a family party that my moral compass was broken and I'm sorry I've left your natural world devastated by short sighted solutions! Or will they say I didn't take the time or desire to find a better solution for all.

NH1 News Reporter Gail Huff story link 11/22/16 -- Seacoast communities worry new Eversource project will ruin Great Bay's water quality

<http://www.nh1.com/news/seacoast-communities-worry-new-eversource-project-will-ruin-great-bay-s-water-quality/#.WDRlvaEWu5k.facebook>