Please consider the impact of the Eversource proposal that will disturb/destroy the Bald Eagle nesting site on Great Bay. It is ironic that their project proposal will destroy the living symbol of the United States of America. Of course, the proposal will also have a profound negative impact on the Great Bay itself with the disturbance of sediment in the bay which will cause so much destruction to the habitat that we have been trying to restore for years and years. We have lost 90 percent of the oyster population which was a living filtration system that kept our Bay clean. Agriculture runoff, industrial and residential pollution, pesticides and other causes have had an incredible negative impact on the health of our Bay and the surrounding natural life and resources.

The history of this country is the history of the destruction of so many native and natural habitats not to mention Native Americans, simply so a few at the expense of many can get rich. The tragedy is that the true riches, our natural resources have been depleted, exploited and extricated to the point of in many cases of total extinction, and that is the path that many developers and corporations are still on.

Sadly, in many cases, we cannot restore what we have destroyed, but there is hope that if we are mindful and stop interfering with our beautiful planet, we can bring back some of the wonder.

Human population increases are the biggest threat to our planet along with the greed of corporations and politicians. Unfortunately, human beings have become the cancer of our Earth. We can fight that cancer if we really care.
