

I am a firm believer in the preservation of what little natural, unspoiled land NH has left. I am also a real hard ass when it comes to big corporations telling the lowly, tax paying landowner what to do with property or his environment. I have been against Northern Pass since it's introduction. We have not been taken seriously by the big money and how important it is to us living in NH. If we wanted mile high power lines scouring the landscape we could move to Mass. or CT. We live and raise our families HERE in NH for a reason and resent any outsider (big or small), coming here just to destroy our beliefs and our way of life. I remain an absolute believer in NO to Northern Pass and am certainly beyond ready to them leave once and for all.
