

Dear Ms. Monroe,

I can vouch for the comment made by Walter Palmer, "and in some cases our duly submitted questions have been completely ignored." My carefully worded question was not read, even though it was submitted at the same time that I handed in my request to speak, which was granted. By definition, the moderator is nonpartisan and unbiased. Would the proceedings be more leveled with a moderator wearing an orange vest?

--Bruce Brekke