

I concur with Rebecca More's request for new extended deadlines for data requests in consideration of the delay in announcing the new groups of interveners that would allow these new groups to coordinate.

There are several reasons that have been given by several parties- inability to access information on the SEC website, delays in posting pertinent incoming information on the SEC website, and lack of written confirmation and communication from the SEC regarding decisions made verbally at the April 12 SEC meeting, to name just a few- in response to which the deadlines for data requests should be extended.
