Don't let them build 192 miles of High-voltage wires across the state of New Hampshire. The power companies can't possibly meet the requirements and there are so many new ways to meet the states and countries needs.

If this is allowed, we will all know that it is a business over people decision. I am building right now and if the state had support for 'green' energy', I would be adding that to the home. We need alternatives that are local. Let's keep the money in the U.S.

Sincerely,
