

SEC COMMENTS COLLECTION

SECDocket	2015-06 Northern Pass Transmission - Eversource
CommenterName	Janice Rose
CommenterCity	Conway
DateReceived	05-18-2017

CommenterWords

I understand only too well that there are times when money speaks the loudest. Many that live here in this state do not have the funds to oppose this. But we have voices! I, along with many I know, personally and casually, are asking...no pleading with you to forego the erection of these overly tall towers through our pristine forests and mountains!! So much of what this state is will be destroyed and the future of these lands will be forever compromised if these towers are erected! Certainly, it seems more prudent, given the hazardous weather conditions in these areas, that burying the lines underground would be a more practical and visually appealing choice. If it is a matter of economics/cost to do so, consider the impact these towers will have upon tourism, and the cost to maintain these towers during the winter.

Surely, the burial of these lines, instead of the erecting of towers will settle the "No Northern Pass" issue in a more equitable way, satisfying both parties of NH's citizens, those for and against Northern Pass.

Furthermore, "pass" is the operative word here as the electricity delivered will not affect those in NH who are experiencing high utility costs. It will "pass" us by, leaving us with the damage incurred by these towers defacing our landscape!