Hello Folks,

I have been visiting the Nash Stream area for about forty years. I don't get up there more than a day or two a year, but I regard the area, especially the Percy Peaks, Sugarloaf, and the Nash Stream itself, as gifts from God. I have convinced two of my sons that this is a true assessment. The views from these hills are already affected by human development, but a giant power line would cause irreparable damage, both visually and spiritually. My sons and I have accepted the Dummer wind farm as a necessary change to the area, but the power line known as the Northern Pass would eliminate what little of the wildness is left in Coos County. There must be a better alternative.

Thanks, Mike Augusta .
