No to Northern Pass. places that already have electricity want more electricity (I use electricity, I understand that), but they need to find a way that is not asking a huge section of the state to do the sacrificing of their own economy. that is one of the main issues with this project. the argument is that it will provide jobs up here but that is temporary, well my plans to live here are not temporary so I don't want to see the regular economy suffer on a more permanent basis which this project will negatively affect. and yes we also care about the visual and not just because the visual also affects our economy.

my fear is this is just another case where the government will not listen to what the affected people want.

thank you
