Local renewable low polluting, non polluting energy generation is the most secure way to go. This state needs to decide what is more important. Its people, its land, its environment or some external entity whose goal is profits no matter the cost.

Lower New England needs the power not us. They should solve their problems locally. and in such a way as to not let one behemoth monopolize the region.

Hydropower isn't necessarily as green as it sounds. The Canadians have compromised their environment and a way of life for some people. Burying the line impacts the environment as much if not more.

If Northern Pass is given the green light then the flood gates will be open. The " New Hampshire Advantage" will lack any true meaning.

To Northern Pass say: No Thank-you!
