We need power. Very hard or near impossible to build new power plants.
Canada wants to sell us power that is produced away from everybody's back yard.
All we have to do is move the power to the New England Distribution Point.
There are a few small problems that are no big deal compared to not having energy.
I suggest those that do not want this source of power remove their meters from their house and then at least they would show real commitment to their cause.
i support the Northern Pass and feel all of the protesting is going to only cost us more for power we need.
