I am strongly opposed to this project. First of all, it is not sustainable. To get the water power, they dammed rivers in Quebec and drowned habitat used by both humans and animals. Those lakes will eventually silt up — I'm looking to the world our grandchildren will inherit.

It will be a disaster for the natural world in Northern New Hampshire. People come here for nature: rivers, forests, mountains, lakes that are as pristine as is possible in a culture that sees the natural world only in terms of exploitation. Towers would ruin the views all around. If they bury it, the plan is to run it down the Easton road in Franconia. That road goes right past my church, the Franconia Church of Christ, and would cause untold disruption.

This ugly and damaging project will not even bring power to New Hampshire residents, which seems totally ridiculous to me.
