In view of the fact that Hydro-Quebec will not pay for the US side of the project I feel that it would be wise to reconsider the entire project. Further, recent information on the lowering demand for electricity in Rhode Island due to a successful wind project, further lessens the need for this poorly conceived project. As an Eversource customer I object to any project that will increase our already over priced electricity. This project is not necessary and will cost more in environmental damage to the tourist areas of the state than any benefit New Hampshire will ever draw from this project. We don't need this, cannot afford this, and do not want the damage to our local tourist based economies. Ina M. Lippard
