As a citizen of NH, I am opposing the Northern Pass Project. Have we not learned yet? Must we continue to allow investors plagued with the love of money to fool us? The foundation of this project is pure greed...in it strictly to make more money. And while doing so, disrespecting the citizens, destroying the serene beauty of the area--that many from around the world come to enjoy, disrupting lives of the animals that dwell on the lands, and further lying to those they believe cannot fully comprehend what they are being told. The power is NOT for northern New Hampshire or any part of it. Jobs will be outsourced...as always. In other regions of the US and the world these types of projects elect to bury lines to avoid disturbing pristine lands and those who live there. All living harmoniously without ugly towers, humming outside their homes, no depreciated property values, and no risk of brain cancer. I left the land of flat for a quiet, simpler, peaceful lifestyle where I can enjoy singing birds and other wildlife. Breath fresh air because of the purification process the trees offer...and the many sounds of nature itself...not an annoying humming buzz coming from the power lines...not to mention the destruction during the building process and the scab-lands left in the wake. The list of reasons this should not go through continues on, but I think I've painted a good picture with what I've said. Each time I drive past a sign opposing the pass...I haven't seen any promoting it...I smile. My favorite: "Northern Pass Kiss My Ass".
