We live adjacent to the proposed right of way of the PASS. My wife is diagnosed and suffers with electro hypersensitivity (EHS). We moved here to get away from emf sources and are concerned that the above ground transmission of hybrid power will make it impossible for her to live here. (The tallest tower on the route will be over our home) Was it Honigberg that said; "Many know little beyond the boundary of their own properties."? This property is all we have for our life savings and we have neither the finance nor physical strength to start over somewhere else. This 200 plus foot tower will devastate the resale value of our home and my wife's health.
