I was greatly disappointed to see wind turbines defile the Tenney Mountain skyline for many miles around, and for no apparent benefit to local residents, or NH residents, in general. It will be salt in the wounds to further scar the local beauty with any above-ground transmission lines, or even a naked right-of-way over buried cables. Again, this proposal provides no obvious benefit to the local residents, or even NH residents in general. The concept of raping the local resources to benefit a distant despot reeks of colonialism. As egregious as that was in its day, it is even more reprehensible that something similar would be allowed in a modern U.S. society. And lest anyone take my view as restricted to the Plymouth / Grafton County area, I say emphatically "you are mistaken". Get your energy from your own back yards.
