Dear Pamela Monroe,

on several occasions while camping or traveling in Québec we have been treated quite nastily by the people who work in gas stations, laudermats and food stores especially around the Montréal area. why would we want to deal with people who do not like us!!!!!! we really try to be friendly and courteous to all people where ever we are. we have for many years gone to Ontario where the people treat us very warmly. they apparently appreciate our business and our money. we have gone to the kipawa lake region, fishing which is on the border between Québec and Ontario and have been so well received. we feel like family! too deal with eastern Québec is not desirable in my opinion. they are very arrogant and do not wish us well sincerely bonnie & larry jones jones

Sincerely,
bonnie j jones
