Dear Pamela Monroe,

Having followed the pros and cons of the proposed Northern Pass project, I can only conclude that the residents of New Hampshire are being expected to give up a swath of scenic beauty for little or nothing of permanence in return. I am a lifelong resident of the Granite State and one of my foremost reasons for continuing to reside here is the surrounding beauty and health benefits that go with it. We are expected to surrender to outside interests that which we value and without just consideration; outside interests backed by finances with which we cannot compete, in defense of our lands, run roughshod over our attempts to defend our heritage. Our efforts to a compromise of having the transmission lines placed underground, were met with an array of excuses why that couldn't be done. It is my belief that if that would be accomplished, that many, if not most, of opponents to the project would change their position.

Sincerely,
Arnold Evans
