We MUST say NO to Northern Pass. Why would we risk our natural resources, and, in dollars and cents - the bread and butter of NH businesses and its citizens - for short term benefit that will have a long term negative impact? The loss of business will occur both during construction phases, and after, when the impact of altered vistas and state historical sites will deter tourists. These are real issues, supported by impact studies and small and large employers, such as the Common Man- a company that has played an integral role in tourism and in the general well-being of our citizens and our visitors. These are NOT alarmist concerns. I try not to assume the worst in people, but I strongly suspect there is some financial or political gain to be made by a small group if this project goes through. This is wrong. This state belongs to all of us. I am all for renewable energy sources, but I don't think one state needs to be sacrificed to provide energy for another state- not in a way that destroys the primary attraction of the one state. We need to encourage solar and other systems.

Please examine your hearts and listen to the vast majority of NH citizens, who built this state, raise their children in it, and want to keep the life we have toiled hard to create in this beautiful state. Once you destroy it, it can't be fixed. For the sakes of my children and yours, and their children, please do not approve this project.
