The Northern Pass project should in no way, shape or form be approved. Unfortunately, our current DOE Secretary and his cabinet chose to ignore the persistent opposition in the region and in the great State of New Hampshire, which would be forever scarred and marred by this behemoth project. Now, it is the duty of the Site Evaluation Committee to deny the permits for the project outright.

I am someone who frequents New Hampshire, lives in New England and a major metropolis that would supposedly benefit from the "surplus" of energy we so direly need but have managed to work without for the past seven years, when Northern Pass was originally mentioned to shareholders as a desperately needed solution to Massachusetts and Connecticut's energy woes. I do not want this project to come to fruition: the short-term benefits (which, by the way, are mere cents on the dollar for customers--the shareholders and Eversource are the only true beneficiaries of Northern Pass) do not in any way outweigh the long-term detriments.

Thousands of tourists and citizens travel to the great state of New Hampshire to bask in its glory and beauty. Please do not allow Northern Pass to eradicate New Hampshire's natural heritage, forever destroying the landscapes and discarding the staunchly opposed voices who have fought through the years against this project.

Do not accept Northern Pass: New England and New Hampshire deserves far better.
