Dear Pamela Monroe,

I just want to assert that as a New Hampshire resident, I see only disadvantages for those of us who will have this power carried through our land. I understand the need for power, and I understand the need for companies to make money, but this is really just victimization of those of us who live here. The long-term job creation is clearly exaggerated, the environmental impact is being downplayed, and this amounts to an exploitation of people citizens and our shared resources.

Sincerely,
Michael Hardt
