Dear Pamela Monroe,

Millions of visitors travel to NH to view scenic and pristine landscapes. The construction damage of tree clearing, rock removal and blasting Northern Pass will negatively impact the experience of these visitors and will leave a scarred landscape for future visitors. Scenic driving and associated revenue through restaurants, gasoline, shopping and lodging is a huge income generator for the state and a renewable resource that Northern Pass will negate. Northern Pass will impact the natural setting with huge strips of trees cleared for burying power line and permanently scar the pristine landscape people come to see. Additionally, the costs of burying the power line through the boulder strewn granite state will be much higher than the estimates, and these costs will eventually be passed on to consumers.

Sincerely,
Ryan Twomey
