New Hampshire is a state of unmatched beauty. People come from all over the country/world to experience it's natural wonders. To destroy it permanently and turn it into nothing more than an extension cord for southern metropolitan areas is a crime against the planet and our future generations. It will only create jobs for NH residents for a brief period of time and financially benefit Hydro Quebec. We can no longer ignore global warming due to man made environmental impacts. Tourists do not come to NH to see power towers. They come to be enveloped in nature. Since tourism is NH's number one source of revenue, you will destroy many NH resident jobs and way of life just to create a few construction jobs. I urge you to reconsider this terrible move.
