

SEC COMMENTS COLLECTION

SECDocket	2015-06 Northern Pass Transmission - Eversource
CommenterName	Sue Coviello
CommenterCity	Allenstown
DateReceived	12-15-2017

CommenterWords

Not much is mentioned about the psychological impact the project will have on those who live along the proposed transmission line.

Our daughter who has some developmental challenges, sensory integration issues. Noise is a major problem for her. It causes panic attacks, anxiety, crying and a variety of other problems.

The proposed line will be about 375 feet behind our home. That may not seem like construction/helicopters and whatever other equipment would be that bothersome but to her noise created will be unbearable. It is not only what is going on behind the house, it is also hearing the noise from work in the area and the anticipation of noise that all will be awful for her.

We have reached out to Eversource/Northern Pass and the only suggestion that they have is to remove her from the house when they are working. Well, 6:30-7am to 6:30ish at night is not realistic. What do they expect her to do and who to take her out? Can't be myself or my husband because we both work. It is not fair to her to have to deal with the noise from the project. This is her home and the one place she should feel safe from too much noise. She is why we live as far out as we could be without leaving Allenstown.

How would you feel if it was your family member being subjected to this? Please vote no for Northern Pass. Think of the effect it will have on the state and others like my daughter.

Sue Coviello