Dear Pamela Monroe,

I grew up in NH and lived, recreated, and worked in the White Mountains. The natural beauty is a big draw for a large, thriving tourist industry. I would hate to see the view-scapes ruined for the benefit of a few large energy companies, when better alternatives with under-water and underground lines would be preferable. If Northern Pass can't be buried, then it should be abandoned and the less-intrusive alternatives should be given consideration.

Sincerely,
Peter Coffin
