Dear Ms. Monroe,

Thanks you for the opportunity to comment concerning the Northern Pass Project. I have followed the project for many years. While I support renewable energy, I believe it is imperative to construct the project in a responsible manner. I am retired now, but I was the consultant project manager for numerous environmentally sensitive projects, primarily beach renourishment projects. I also was manager/involved in the "repair" of three coral reefs, working for NOAA as a consultant. I believe the Northern Pass project can be responsibly constructed by burying the line throughout the entire length of New Hampshire. No project of this size can completely avoid the various types of potential impacts, however, every effort should be made to minimize those impacts, especially considering the projected life of this project. Please consider my comments, and thanks for accepting my input.
