I hope you will seriously consider the long term negative impact that building the Northern Pass will have on our state. This is especially true for the North Country. Tourism plays a large part in our local economy. People travel here from around the world to enjoy the natural beauty of the area. Many people in this area do not have retirement plans but have the value of their real estate (often this only their homes). Those real estate values have already been impacted just by the fact that there is a possibility that the Northern Pass will be built. While the project would offer a few jobs for a short period of time, the damage to our landscape, property values and potential loss of tourism dollars will be permanent. I had friends who have said it won't matter if we don't want it and there's nothing we can do about it. Please prove them wrong. If you listen to the majority of the people here, the project will not be build as currently proposed. If it must be built, it must be buried.
