I am appalled that this project is still being considered. The scenic beauty of New Hampshire is one of the main reasons we have a robust tourist industry. The long-term impact the Northern Pass will have on tourism will almost certainly outweighs any temporary increase in jobs for Granite Staters.

I also feel strongly that we all need to focus on local alternative energy sources and energy efficiency rather than relying on a source from OUTSIDE the country that will further stress an already fragile power grid.

The states to the south of us need to come up with local solutions to their energy problems rather than make New Hampshire suffer for their inefficiency and poor planning.
