As a hike, backpacker and camper who lives in and recreates in northern New Hampshire, I fail to see how background or underground transmission will have any benefit to residents in New Hampshire. Allowing corporate interests to corrupt our already impacted natural environment so they can line their pockets with money gained through environmental degradation in Canada is unethical at best. We need to focus instead on producing sustainable, solar, and local power generation and reducing demand for energy. Canada has raped native hunting grounds of indigineous populations without due process and compensation. Bringing ill-gotten cheap energy across the border makes the U.S. complicit. I oppose Northern Pass in all forms, above and/or underground. Short term job growth during construction will not benefit New Hampshire with its already low unemployment.
