Please do not go through with the Northern Pass. The White Mountains are one of the most visited national forests in the country; people come here for the beauty of the natural world and the seclusion it gives from civilization. The people of NH don't want this pass to ruin that. We are running out of natural places that haven't been touched by man and there's quite a few of us who need and love these mountains and want them undamaged by powerlines. Never mind the fact that you'll be destroying a massive portion of animal's habitats by installing powerlines underground miles through the mountains. Humans have made it this far without this Northern Pass. Why do we need to tear up the beautiful mountains of this state now?
