In the news lately, Putin has been shaking his fist at the fact that US heavy military equipment is being deployed to eastern bases in NATO. He says he will counter this by positioning more hardware along his western borders. Really, the guy is paranoid enough, so why is Obama baiting him like this? Does our Nobel Peace Prize winner WANT a THIRD shooting war, this time in Europe? And if so, over what? The 1% of the Donetsk population that wants to stay under rule from Kiev?

The more gesturing and fist pounding these idiot European leaders do, the more desperately they are going to want gas from Pennsylvania through Southern New Hampshire. Keep the peace, stop the exports, stop NED. The feds should not be taking New Hampshire land for exported gas.

Thank you
