Will our towns go bankrupt as people flee?

People don't want the pipeline endangering themselves, their children and their loved ones.

Our property values have fallen in the market place from pure intent of this pipeline.

Each tax payer lost places an additional tax burden on those remaining.

How will we sustain our families with these additional burdens?

Where will we find the money to maintain services, schools, businesses and community medical facilities?

The tax revenue derived from the pipe will be helpful for the first few years, but Kinder Morgan lawyers will re-negotiate every year, claiming depreciation, thus reducing the tax value to almost nothing in a few years.

Another reason to oppose NED.

Thank you
